James Lote Addressed Lions Monday Evening

Local Manager of National Selective Service Gave Instructive Address on Functions of His Department.

A near capacity attendance of Lions met in the Grand Union on Monday evening to hear an address by James Lote, district manager of the National Selective Service and Unemployment Insurance office at Blairmore.

Mr. Lote started his address with the inception of National Selective Service by the federal government, and touched upon the important features of the various acts that have been brought into force to keep Canada's war effort functioning at full capacity.

He told why it was necessary to issue permits to all workers between the ages of 16 to 65 so that a constant check could be kept on the manpower situation. It had been necessary shortly after the outbreak of war to move men from non-essential work to essential work. As Canada's industrial output increased and manpower became scarce it became necessary on Sept. 14, 1942, to register women for war work. Many thousands were placed in industry.

He dealt with the proclamation on May 17, 1943, dealing with the coal mining industry and which froze all employees to their jobs. He admitted that some difficulty had arisen in carrying out the orders of this proclamation, but results had been achieved which today were most satisfactory.

He dealt with priorities and stated that a monthly check was made upon all industries with some industries changing quite frequently in importance while others remained steady. As an industry's product became of importance to the war effort it was accorded a higher priority than some other industries and therefore had first call on manpower and material.

War had drained the hospitals of nurses and it had become necessary to call for the registration of all nurses. Many thousands additional nurses had been secured by this method and a crisis averted.

Following the war, he told his listeners, that the lifting of compulsory and freezing regulations would be made as quickly as possible, but the control of supply and demand would remain in effect.

Lion Sid Short spoke highly of Mr. Lote's efficiency and fairness in his administration of the district's National Selective Service office and moved a vote of thanks for a most instructive address.

Handsome Elk's Head Donated to Coleman Elks

On Thursday last Coleman Elks lodge was presented with a handsome mounted elk's head by the Grand Union hotel. The presentation was made by L. S. Richards, manager of the Grand Union, and was received by Exalted Ruler Herb Sherratt on behalf of the lodge.

Mr. Sherratt expressed the lodge's deep appreciation for so fine a gift. The head will adorn one of the lodge walls.

The animal was shot by a Coleman youth, G. Lant, in the hills nearby town. Mr. Richards happened to see the antlered head at Lant's home and immediately thought it a grand trophy for Coleman Elks' lodge hall. Steps were immediately taken to give it as a gift to the Elks, hence the little ceremony on Thursday evening.

JIM ANDERSON WANTS TO BE A MEMBER OF CURLING CLUB

A letter was received at the week end from Jim Anderson, now fighting in Holland, informing the curling club executive that he wished the honor of being the first member to pay his dues for the season 1944-45.

Jim has been following the progress of the new arena's construction through The Journal, which he states he receives weekly.

Since many of the curlers have paid five years dues in advance in an effort to help finance the arena's construction, it was impossible for Jim to be the first to pay dues. However, in recognition of his interest in the club and his best wishes for its success, President Andy Dow has authorized that a complimentary season's ticket be sent to him in Holland.

JIMMY SLUGG AND JOHNNY RYPIEN PLAY WITH THE EDMONTON CANADIANS

Jimmy Slugg and Johnny Rypien, two of Coleman's bright young junior hockey stars, left recently for Edmonton, where they have gone into training with the Edmonton Canadians, a junior hockey team.

Both Slugg and Rypien played with this team last season with much success, and their services were sought by the team management for 1944-45 in an effort to help boost the team along the Memorial Cup trail early next spring. Both boys are products of the local pee wee league.

Arrangements Completed For Visit of Blood Clinic Next Tuesday And Wednesday; Surgery Secured

184 Names Have Been Obtained; Cards Will Be Mailed This Week End to All Prospective Donors Listing Date and Time to Report.

Arrangements were completed at a special meeting of the local Red Cross executive on Tuesday evening to take care of the blood clinic which will visit Coleman on Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 5 and 6.

At the three local depots, 184 names had been kindly offered the use of the surgery for the two days. The offer was accepted by the executive and arrangements made to put the surgery in readiness Monday evening so that donors might be attended to Tuesday morning with a minimum of trouble.

President Dutil reported that the doctors had kindly offered the use of the surgery for the two days. The offer was accepted by the executive and arrangements made to put the surgery in readiness Monday evening so that donors might be attended to Tuesday morning with a minimum of trouble.

Light refreshments will be given all who donate blood.

At the week end cards will be sent to each person whose name is listed as a donor. The card will give date and time when the donor is expected to report. It is most important that upon receipt of the card you note date and time. If you find it is unsuitable you must notify Mr. Dutil immediately in order that he make the necessary change and have some other person allotted to the schedule that had originally been given you. As much care as possible will be given the schedule, but it is realized that some might not be able to adhere to their particular time schedule, therefore the importance of notifying Mr. Dutil immediately.

Please do not eat any fatty food (this includes candy or confectionery) after 8 p.m. on the evening before your appointment. For breakfast on day of donation you may eat fresh fruit, or fruit juice, cereal and syrup, bread or toast, jam or marmalade, tea or coffee. No butter, no cream, no eggs, no bacon. It is very important to eat only foods contained in this list, as these foods are free of fats. If you do not follow these rules your blood will contain fat and cannot be used. Blood containing fats dries oily and insoluble and is discarded. If you cannot keep your appointment, please advise Mr. Dutil.

Eleven Dogs Poisoned During Past Week

Someone Thought to be Deliberately Poisoning the Animals; Danger Area Said to be on Main and Second Streets.

Some cruel hearted animal hater is thought to be plying his dastardly trade this week, as no less than eleven dogs have died sudden and painful deaths at various points on Second and Main streets.

Constable Antle has endeavored to track down the culprit without success and is of the opinion that some strong and quick-acting poison is being laid in easily accessible places.

The two danger zones for dogs is close by the rear of the Legion Club and about midway down Second streets.

Nearby the Legion Club three dogs quickly followed each other into death. One was picked up in the creek bed; another dragged itself on to the Legion lot and died, while the third dragged itself over to the sidewalk in front of Jimmie's Coffee Shop, where the poor beast died.

Much heartbreak is being suffered by the young people who have made pets of some of the dogs that have been poisoned this week. Owners are up in arms against this wholesale slaughter of innocent animals. Every effort should be made to trace the guilty party and give him the justice he richly deserves.

Roy Foster Wounded In Action In Italy

A wire was received on Tuesday by Mrs. Roy Foster, informing her that her husband had been wounded in action in Italy. Further information is promised as soon as it is available.

New Curling Rink To Have Grand Opening

Plan on Inviting District Clubs to Send Rinks to Take Part in Opening Bonspiel; Large Gang of Workmen Finished Work on Roof on Sunday.

All doubt as to whether or not curling would be enjoyed in Coleman this winter was brushed aside on Sunday afternoon when a gang of twenty-one men worked till late in a successful effort to finish laying the asbestos white top paper on the roof. When President Andy Dow called it a day there remained only a narrow strip of uncovered roof around the eaves of the building and Contractor Celly took care of this work on Monday morning.

The lighting system has been installed and a grand job has been done by Stuart Murdoch. The ice lanes have been made ready and flooding was expected to start during the week.

In the spacious waiting room it is planned to put stone board on walls and ceiling. A floor of good quality wood will be laid over the rough boards which at present comprise the floor. The chimney was also built at the week end and the curlers have now set up a stove and have heat while at work in the waiting room.

It is planned to have a gala opening. Invitations will be sent to district clubs to send one or possibly two rinks to represent their club at the opening bonspiel. Rinks from Fernie to Lethbridge will be represented. A banquet is expected to be held after the day's spiel at the Grand Union, where the visitors will be given an opportunity of telling the local committee just what their honest opinion is of this grand arena.

Once the arena has been practically completed it is expected that President Dow will call the annual meeting and get his club organized for the season.

Geo. Derbyshire, M.M. Given High Praise In Citation

Wounded Man Shot And Killed - While Being Carried by Derbyshire; Was Responsible for Steadiness of Troops Under Heavy Fire.

George Derbyshire, MM, and now a German prisoner of war, has received high praise in the citation recently released dealing with the action which won him the Military Medal.

The citation reads: Pte. George Francis Derbyshire, 35, (Coleman, Alberta (Military Medal)): "On May 22, 1944, during the advance of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment into the Adolph Hitler line, Private Derbyshire, a stretcher bearer, was attached to the right forward company. The fire encountered by this company was the heaviest yet experienced and their advance was held up. Despite this, Private Derbyshire moved about, tending to wounded, not only from the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, but also from the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, who were in the area. This involved assisting the wounded over a distance of nearly 150 yards. At approximately 12 o'clock, Private Derbyshire picked up a man from the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, who had lost one leg and was severely wounded in the other. Immediate medical attention was vital. Realizing this, Pte. Derbyshire, with no thought of danger to himself, picked the man up, put him over his shoulder and ran with him towards cover. Before he could make his objective the wounded man was shot and killed. All through the remainder of the day, in spite of enemy fire, Private Derbyshire continued to attend to the wounded of his company.

"Private Derbyshire's splendid example and unflinching devotion to duty were an inspiration to every man present and undoubtedly was in part responsible for the steadiness of the troops under such intense fire."

ICE BEING MADE AT SKATING ARENAS

Ismen G. Buydens and Charlie Rayman are busy these days flooding at the big skating rink and the open air skating rink. Bases have been built up at both arenas and it won't be long before ice for skating is available.

It is planned to have a gala opening. Invitations will be sent to district clubs to send one or possibly two rinks to represent their club at the opening bonspiel. Rinks from Fernie to Lethbridge will be represented. A banquet is expected to be held after the day's spiel at the Grand Union, where the visitors will be given an opportunity of telling the local committee just what their honest opinion is of this grand arena.

Cigarette Fund Notes

Dear Friends: Thank you for the 300 cigarettes which I received yesterday. This constant supply of smokes means much to us. No boys are better looked after and provided for than those of Coleman.

J. T. Dunbar.

Dear Members: Once again I want to express my thanks and appreciation for the cigs I have just received. This time there were two parcels. One was mailed last May and had travelled from England to Italy, due to a misprint in the address, then back to England and over here to me in Belgium. I haven't ran into any Colemanites here as yet, but then we never know where we might run into them. Unless things take a sudden turn we don't expect to be home for Christmas, but can assure you it won't be long after. Please convey my thanks to the members of the Legion and to all those who make these gifts possible. — O Hirsch.

Mrs. Tom Siska Passed Away On Sunday Morning

Had Suffered Lengthy Illness; Funeral This Afternoon.

It was with deep sorrow that friends and neighbors heard of the death in the local hospital on Sunday morning of Mrs. Tom Siska, 40. Deceased had been ailing for a considerable time and had been a patient in Calgary hospital, as well as the local hospital. She had entered the latter institution only two weeks ago.

Born at Druzek, Czechoslovakia, on April 7, 1904, she came to Canada at the age of five with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horejsi, the family taking up residence at Frank. She received her education at Frank and in 1920 married Mr. Tom Siska at Coleman, the ceremony taking place at Holy Ghost church, with Rev. Father McCormick conducting.

Surviving are the husband; two sons, Fred and Edward; one daughter, Helen; also her parents at Frank; two brothers, Frank Horejsi, of Coleman, and James, of Frank, and one sister, Mrs. Agnes Skocz, of Westminister. The latter arrived during the week to attend the funeral.

The funeral arrangements were made by the Coleman Slovak Society. Requiem High Mass was held at the Holy Ghost church at 8 o'clock this morning, and funeral was held at 1 o'clock this afternoon, services being held at Holy Ghost church, where Libera was sung. Interment was made at the local Catholic cemetery. Rev. Father L. Sullivan conducted the services.

Capt. A. E. Larke Returns From Overseas

Visited Friends in Pass Towns During Week; Had Been in Italian Front Lines.

Capt. A. E. Larke, former minister of St. Paul's United Church, has returned from overseas, and accompanied by Mrs. Larke, visited a number of his Pass friends last week.

Capt. Larke embarked in January, 1940, and went overseas during the early summer of 1942 with the 4th Division. He had been in North Africa and Italy, and while there met several from this district. While in England some time ago he saw Thos. Clarke, of Coleman. He is now attached to MD 13 at Calgary.

Captain Larke saw the Casino show and was on the Adriatic during last winter. He found the Italian people cordial and co-operative. The Italian peasants were not politically minded, and only wished to get on with their jobs. It was towards the north, in the industrial sections, that the fascists were to be found, stated Capt. Larke.

Capt. Larke spent 11 months in North Africa and Italy, and was twice with the Calgary Tanks with the 1st Canadian Army Brigade, who were mostly with Indian and English troops.

While in Rome, Capt. Larke visited all the famous churches and went all through the Vatican. He gives high praise for the work of the Canadian Legion, the Salvation Army, the Knights of Columbus, the YMCA, and Red Cross.

He stated that the morale of the men is high and that they are a good lot to work with, in fine fettle and health. He stated that the food in the front line is excellent and lots of it. He stated that the men lived outside for a year and that they are healthy and rugged and are doing a wonderful job.

Jerry Coll, now of Calgary and formerly of Coleman, is visiting his sister at Vancouver.

WORLD-WIDE CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Golden text: Neither for these only do I pray, but for them also that believe on me through their word, that they may all be one. John 17:20, 21.

Lesson: John 17:18-23; 1 Corinthians 1:1-3; 12:14-14; II Corinthians 8:1-9.

Devotional Reading: Colossians 1:16-23.

Explanations and Comments

Jesus Prays for His Disciples' Dedication to Their Work. John 17:18. On the last evening of his earthly life, after he had given his memorial supper and uttering his last words to his disciples, Jesus offered a farewell prayer. They were together either in the upper room where they had met or were on their way to Gethsemane. Read the entire seventeenth chapter of John. The prayer is often called "Christ's High-priestly Prayer," because in it he "consecrated himself to be priest and victim in the approaching sacrifice."

Verses 1-5 are his words for himself; he has finished his task, and he prays to be glorified that he may glorify the Father and thus give eternal life to his followers. Verses 6-19 are his prayer for his own who are in the world, his disciples whom he had kept and guarded and now was to leave. In verses 20-26 he prays for all followers everywhere.

Lingeringly and lovingly in the presence of the Father, the Son speaks of the little circle of chosen followers in whom he has such wonderful confidence. His prayer for them is the perfecting of the instruments through whom he was to reach the world.

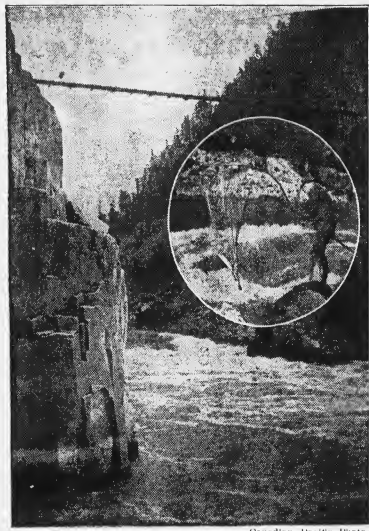

"For their sakes I sanctify myself," may be taken as the motto of the Lord's whole life. "Others" was the great consideration which inspired all his service and sacrifice. (J. Stuart Holden). "For their sakes I sanctify myself," that they themselves also may be sanctified in truth. The word "sanctify" here means to separate, set apart, consecrate, for a high and holy service. The request is that the disciples may be set apart for the service of witnessing to the truth. "The truth" was the sphere in which they were to be set apart. They were to find their business, their life-interests, their life in it. Devotion to the gospel in the highest and fullest sense is what the Savior sought for them. He had devoted himself to them for that end. He sent them out devoted to one end—the gospel. He had lived for that; he had prayed for that; he was going to death for that. And as we think of what we know of the after lives of men for whom all this was done, we see that the purpose and prayer of our Lord was fulfilled. The gospel was their life-work, and their life, their interest, their joy." (Expository Times).

One Face-Saving Formula of Japanese Is Wearing Out

It takes more than seven years' unprovoked and bitter assault on a neighbor to shake honorable Nippon's complacent effrontery. "Japan does not," it was officially announced in Tokyo "consider herself at war with the Chinese people—only with the Anglo-Americans." Peaceful persuasion, as you might say, has been Japan's policy towards China during seven long and ferocious years. But one would have thought by this time that even Tojo would have seen that that face-saving formula was getting the worse for wear. He should tell such tales to the horse marines—or the Great Shrikes.—Manchester Guardian. 2596

For Protection Of Salmon

This section of the mighty Fraser River, 120 miles east of Vancouver, is more than picturesque—it is the infamous Hell's Gate, where thousands of salmon are killed each year in the swirling currents caused by the deep stream being forced at high speed through a rocky, 110-foot-wide funnel. When the river is in flood it rises about 70 feet beyond this point to within a few feet of the spider's web of a bridge that has been strung across the gap by the fisheries commission. The governments of Canada and the United States are spending something like a million dollars here to build highways and prevent the annual estimated loss of five million dollars to the salmon trade. The sportsman in the insert may be having fun, but the fun becomes irksome for the four salmon taggers working for the fisheries commission. Last year they netted 9,000 salmon, tagged them and released them unharmed.

Witch's Stone

Offering Of Flowers Now Found Beside The Tombstone

All a well at Scarpagot Green since the "Witch's Stone" was replaced. But the villagers can't explain offerings of flowers found each Sunday beside the two-ton tombstone.

No one is exactly anxious to maintain vigil beside the rock on a weekend in an attempt to gain explanation. It's enough, in the words of W. J. Sykes of the St. Anne's Castle Inn, that "everything is quiet" and that the good citizens can rest in their beds without chills vibrating up and down their spines.

To go back a few weeks... supernatural things began happening after an American bulldozer dislodged the century-old stone from its resting place at the crossroads. Tradition has it that the stone marked where a witch had been burned and buried.

A great boulder, which took two men to move, was found outside the Dog and Gun public house; chickens were discovered locked up in rabbit hutchies while the rabbits gambolled in the garden; church bells chimed irregularly for the first time in history; 30 sheep and two horses were found dead in a field, and a builder found his scaffold poles tumbled about like matchsticks.

A vigilance committee was formed, discovered nothing. A physical investigator recommended that the parish council have the "witch's stone" restored to its exact spot. Under cover of night and through use of a compass, the job was done. From that moment there have been no unearthly happenings.

But these flowers...

The British Navy

U.S. Opinion A Flash Of Humor In These Grim Days

A Washington despatch to the eminent Wall Street Journal relating to the British Navy will undoubtedly take front rank in unintentional American humor of the week. Said the Wall Street pundit:

"Britain's help in the sea war against Japan can be easily overestimated."

"The British Navy depends on bases for refueling, carries its drinking water instead of distilling it from seawater and is inexperienced in using carriers against land-based planes. To be as effective as the U.S. Pacific force, it would have to be rebuilt and re-trained."

"The situation causes little concern, however. The U.S. Navy is more than a match for the Japs, and British warships can be employed in short-range operations."

As a Good Neighbor we refrain from making an obvious retort that comes to mind. Wall Street is not the U.S.A., anyway. But the port-rival of the Royal Navy as a sort of auxiliary of the American fleet is a flash of humor in grim days.—Toronto Telegram.

Canadian Beef

United Kingdom Will Need It To Maintain Meat Ration

Beef supplies from Canada were essential to maintenance of the United Kingdom's meat ration, Food Minister J. J. Llewellyn told the British House of Commons in announcing an agreement between the two countries for sale to Britain of Canadian beef during this year and 1945.

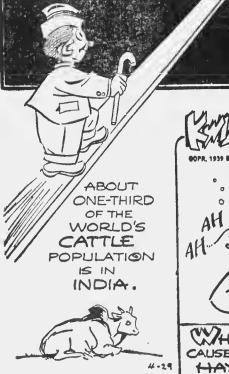

Canada will supply a minimum 50,000,000 pounds in each year and the United Kingdom will purchase a maximum of 112,000,000 pounds this year and 124,000,000 in 1945.

The minister's statement said if more was available the United Kingdom would be "glad" to take the additional amounts.

TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

PROPER RECREATION IS VITAL TO HEALTH

The late Chauncey Depew, famous American senator, as well-known for his wit as for his skill in debate, once said that he took absolutely no exercise except to act as palbearer for his friends who did. And there's a good deal of common sense behind the flippancy of that remark. Your heart is a loyal and tireless organ, but there comes a time when it may object to overwork.

Exercise is a valuable form of recreation, invaluable to youth and useful when youth is past—but when middle-age is reached moderation in exercise is insurance on having more years to enjoy other recreations.

Fortunately, recreation is not limited to any one type of activity. There are literally hundreds of forms of recreation, from the most active to those that require nothing more than sitting down and listening. They can all serve the useful purpose of relieving mental and nervous strain, of helping to recharge the human "batteries," and giving zest to living. Semi-active and non-active recreations available to all include hobbies, attendance at sports events, attendance at or more direct interest in musical or dramatic entertainments, active interest in discussion or educational groups.

All afford diversion, a change of activity, and the very necessary break in the monotony of everyday routine.

If older people do not confine their recreation within the limits of their strength and physical condition, the resulting strain tears down rather than builds up—their recreation does no good possibly harm.

PLAN AERIAL SURVEY

The Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, on approval of the Federal Government, plan aerial surveys of 6,000 square miles in South-eastern and Central Alberta and along the South Saskatchewan and Assiniboine rivers during 1945, officials said.

The noise of an airplane in the air is made almost entirely by the propeller blades beating on the air, not the motor.

Carrier Pigeon

Jap Pigeon Captured By Australians Would Only Eat Rice

The Australian carrier pigeon service in New Guinea has its own prisoner-of-war—a fine, haughty fellow, who flourishes in captivity and struts like a Samurai.

Described as a blue bar cock, the bird was captured by an Australian pigeon section serving with the Americans on Wakde Island, Geelky Bay. For days he remained icily aloof, scorned the Australian diet. He demanded rice, and got rice.

Gradually he was weaned on to the Australian balanced ration, and soon his plumage, which was bedraggled and sparse when he was captured, blossomed like the rose.

He has not worked for the Allies yet, and it is unlikely that he will be trusted. When he is gathered to his ancestors, his earthly shell will be handed to a taxidermist and probably will be taken on the strength of the Australian War Museum.—Australian News Letter.

Mechanical Power

It Is Ours To Use For Good Or Evil

Here's a remarkable statement by one of Britain's leading scientists. Speaking of the enormous increase of available mechanical power, he declares:

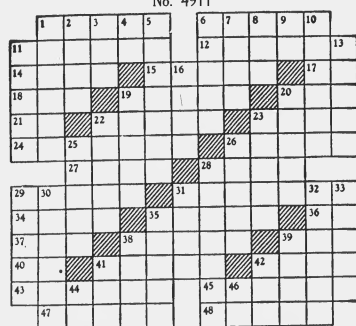

"All the mechanical power, wind-power, horse-power, water-power used in the England of Queen Elizabeth for a week would not equal that released in one moment by one 8,000-pound bomb."

Amazing power—unleashed by the wizardry of Science!

What a world we would have with the inventions and discoveries of Science harnessed to the constructive service of man.

And why not? Science can be used to forward civilization—or barbarism. And it's we who must choose.—Halifax Herald.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

There's Something About Christmas

By MARY BOUNDS

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Snow and sleet, and rain freezing on the windshield. It was Christmas Eve and Donna had been driving since early morning.

She set her teeth and stepped out again into ankle-deep slush. The wiper wasn't doing a thing to the heavy layer of ice. With her own special tool, made from a cloth napkin and an old safety razor blade, she scraped a space that would stay clear for just about three minutes. Thank goodness, it wasn't much farther to Aunt Jane's!

A two hundred mile trip was had enough but to have to drive the last few miles in this kind of weather was enough to wear down any girl. But Aunt Jane and Uncle Bill would be glad to see her, and if she could give these two dear old people a little happiness by spending Christmas with them, she supposed she ought to arrive in something like a cheerful frame of mind.

Sighing wearily, she climbed back into the car, switched on the lights and started.

It was growing dark when she crossed the old iron bridge and swung into Fayston. The town was bright with Christmas decorations. Strings of twinkling lights spanned the main street, making an arch as lovely as if made of colorful jewels. Chimes were ringing, too, and Donna, in spite of aching muscles and numbing fingers, thrilled as she always did to the ageless beauty of "Silent Night! Holy Night!"

She drove slowly under the Christmas lights, then, with the music still echoing in her heart, turned off on to the narrow river road that twisted in and out among the foothills of Mt. Knox. Aunt Jane lived at Fay Corners, six miles farther on.

Donna remembered the crooked little road. It would probably be a solid sheet of ice. She wasn't mistaken. About a mile beyond the town when she'd just pulled her car out of a bad skid, a horn tooted imperiously and a splashed gray coupe careened past.

"Idiot!" she thought furiously, as the car sithered around the next curve. "He won't get far at that rate!"

Two curves farther on, she came upon the coupe. Its wheels were headed toward the road, its top miraculously rested against a tree trunk, and its headlights pointed crazily heavenward.

Donna eased up alongside and rolled down her window. A masculine head appeared, with hatless brown hair, nice brown eyes and good features, followed by a pair of broad shoulders, and gloved hands that thumped on the car door.

"Confound this ice!" The door swung open and the man grinned sheepishly. "This is the car I just passed, isn't it?"

Donna nodded. "I'll take you to a telephone," she offered, "or back to town for a wrecker."

The young man looked her over appraisingly, then dug out a professional looking black bag. "A doctor," Donna decided a little more kindly. "So I suppose he has a perfect right to stop on it if he likes."

And then they were in Donna's car, proceeding toward Fay Corners a little faster than before, but oh, so carefully. And the young doctor was explaining, "I've been on the go since early this morning, and now she would this Western woman out at Fay Corners—pick tonight to have her seventh baby."

Arrived at Weston's. "I'll wait," Donna offered.

"You'd do nothing of the kind," Dr. Matthews told her with a tired smile that somehow warmed her heart and made her feel needed and important. "You'll come right in and help. If I know this outfit, I'm getting to need somebody like you pretty badly. They never have anything ready, won't even call a doctor until things begin to get lively, and then they expect him to break his neck to get here!"

"You very nearly did," Donna reminded him as she followed him into the weather-beaten old house.

According to the clock it wasn't really very long before everything was over, and the tiny newcower, wrapped in an old flannel blanket lay sleeping in her arms.

"Good girl!" Dr. Matthews complimented her, as they both looked down at the tiny wrinkled face. "You can put him down now." We'll go. If you could drop me off at a telephone somewhere—I don't know what I'd have done without you—"

Donna headed straight for Aunt Jane's. "It's only a short way," she explained. "There's a telephone. They're expecting me, and a cup of hot coffee won't do either of us any harm."

"And you passed up all this—" he marveled at her a little later, sitting before Aunt Jane's fire. "just to help me?"

"Doctor's orders!" she reminded him. "And anyway it's Christmas Eve and all the time I was remembering that other Baby, the very first Christmas Baby." Her voice grew soft. "It seemed almost as if I were doing it for Him."

"I know," Dr. Matthews's eyes smiled into hers with a look of deep understanding. "I felt it too. There's something about Christmas."

They sat gazing into the fire, and Donna felt glowing and happy all over. There certainly was something about Christmas. Especially this Christmas!

"Idiot!" she thought furiously, as the car sithered around the next curve. "He won't get far at that rate!"

Two curves farther on, she came upon the coupe. Its wheels were headed toward the road, its top miraculously rested against a tree trunk, and its headlights pointed crazily heavenward.

Donna eased up alongside and rolled down her window. A masculine head appeared, with hatless brown hair, nice brown eyes and good features, followed by a pair of broad shoulders, and gloved hands that thumped on the car door.

"Confound this ice!" The door swung open and the man grinned sheepishly. "This is the car I just passed, isn't it?"

HERE'S MY FEED PROBLEM . . .

Must young calves be raised on milk?

HERE'S THE ANSWER . . .

No. Feed "Miracle" Calf Meal and you will save almost a ton of milk per calf. The sale of this milk means money, and "Miracle" Calf Meal raises calves at least 4 months earlier. That's a real saving on feed costs.

Wartime Mapping

Valuable Charts That Cover Wide Areas In Northern Canada

A complete set of aeronautical charts covering all the land areas of the world will be available to civil pilots in the post-war era if the action of a technical sub-committee of the International Civil Aviation Conference is approved.

This development took place while top delegates of the "Big Three" powers, the United States, United Kingdom and Canada, worked toward a joint three-party proposal on an international agreement to set up a world aviation authority or council.

They sought a way out of a deadlock which results from British and Canadian insistence on a world authority with regulatory powers and American desires for a situation which will allow airlines to compete freely for traffic.

The sub-committee of the conference on standards for aeronautical charts is one of the groups of experts within the conference who have been making the bricks that go to build a world aviation structure while the top-level ministers and diplomats debate the form the structure is to take.

Into the making of the charts that cover Canada has gone the work done by the Canadian topographical survey, assisted by the aerial photographic operations of the R.C.A.F. over the past years.

The sections also provides maps of some Arctic and sub-Arctic areas which had never been mapped in detail before and the material for which comes from aerial photographic operations carried out by the United States Army Air Force since the start of the war.

Areas in other little-travelled parts of the world including Labrador, Greenland and parts of Africa also are shown on the charts as a result of work done by various branches of the Allied forces.

As much of the information on the charts is of military value they will not be released for general airline use until after the war but they now are available to and used by all the Allied forces.

The Union Jack

To Be Flown Over United Kingdom Office In Dublin

The Union Jack in future will be flown from the office of the United Kingdom representative in Dublin, P. V. Emery-Evans, Dominions Undersecretary, announced in the House of Commons.

The announcement came after Douglas Savory, Conservative member from Belfast University, said the Irish Republican flag was flown over the Eire High Commissioner's office in London and the Swastika over the German Legation in Dublin.

Mr. Emery-Evans said that it had not been the practice to fly a flag from the United Kingdom office in Dublin but the attitude of neutral Eire toward the war "and the fact that enemy representatives in Dublin are in a position to fly their national flag clearly raises special considerations in this case."

He said Viscount Cranborne, Dominions Secretary, felt "these considerations do not justify the departure from normal practice obtaining in the Commonwealth" and the flag will be flown in future.

Processing Sugar Crop

Two Alberta Plants Expect To Turn Out 110,000,000 Pounds

Southern Alberta is pouring about 1,000,000 pounds of sweetness daily into the sugar bowls of Canadians as processing of the most valuable crop of sugar beets ever grown in the province continues on a round-the-clock basis at both the Raymond and Picture Butte factories.

Each plant is processing about 1,500 tons of beets daily and the factory campaigns are expected to extend well into January. Both factories started operations late in September, shortly after harvesting of beets started.

Harvesting of the crop of 335,000 tons of beets from 29,000 acres was completed early in November and sugar extraction from the crop is expected to approach 110,000,000 pounds.

Beets going through the processing plants are averaging 18 per cent, in sugar content and the general feeling is that growers will receive in the neighborhood of $11.50 a ton for their 1944 beets.

Has Tangled History

Dutch Town Of Breda Typical Of Many European Communities

The story of Breda, the Dutch town which has freed by the British from the Germans the other day, is typical of the tangled history of many European communities. Originally a feudal estate of the Holy Roman Empire, it was sold in 1325 to Brabant and passed later into the hands of William I, first stadtholder of the Netherlands. It was captured twice by the Spaniards, once in 1581 and again in 1625, but was recaptured in 1637 by Frederick Henry of Orange and in 1648 it was finally ceded to Holland by the treaty of Westphalia. The French also captured it twice, in 1793 and in 1795, but in 1913 the citizens of Breda again made themselves masters of the town. Two peace treaties were negotiated there by England, France, Denmark and Holland, once in 1667 and the other in 1746-47. —Sault Daily Star.

Even When The Cake Is Total Flop Manufacturer Guarantees Product

The hubby who went after the flour and baking powder manufacturer when his birthday cake came out flat, proves that there is protection in a brand name

Will the manufacturer of a branded product protect the consumer against loss should that product not live up to advertised claims? A story related to "Marketing" proclaims loudly and confidently that he will.

It was a hot and sizzling day downtown, runs the story, and at home in the apartment kitchen with the oven heated, it was an inferno. But the heroine of the story wanted to celebrate her hubby's birthday with a special cake which his soul loves. Working to a tried and true recipe, she laid out the ingredients including — baking powder and — cake flour.

Mixing completed, oven just right, the cake was put to bed and the housewife mopped her streaming brow. When the oven door was opened there emerged not a cake but a pancake. It was as flat as that! The clock registered time for a second try, so the lady rallied and gave all over again with the tried recipe, the — baking powder and the — cake flour.

Hubby arrived tired and sticky to find his wife hot and bothered. On the kitchen table was the second cake — flatter than the first. The tearful story took. Hubby knew from 45 years' experience that his wife could cook.

"It can't be the eggs, or the butter, or the salt or the sugar!" he argued. "It's either the — baking powder or the — cake flour. I'll get after the so-and-so's and make them eat this cake until they're blue!"

He bundled up a generous section of the flatty cake, the baking powder and cake flour, and hed him to the advertising agency that advertised the flour. With his jaw protruding until it made Mussolini's cave-man chin look like a dimple, he demanded an explanation. A concerned dietitian soothed him and promised immediate investigation.

"My wife's a real cook!" she wailed. "She's won more cooking contests than you've ever heard about! Anyhow, it's MY birthday cake!"

Two days later the dietitian sent hubby a magnificent chocolate-cake and what was left of the — baking powder. There was also a letter to which read:

After trying the baking powder and cake flour which you gave us, and after examining the cakes made with them, I am convinced that something has happened to the baking powder, which will explain the difficulty experienced by your wife.

New British House

Princess Elizabeth Will Have Special Gallery According To Plans

Plans are complete now for rebuilding the House of Commons, damaged by bombs on May 10, 1941. The cost, if the House finally approves the present rebuilding scheme, will be about $5,000,000 over a period of six or seven years.

In the new House, Princess Elizabeth is to have her own special gallery, facing the Speaker. This is a departure from precedent, due to the fact that the heir to the throne is a woman. In the old days the first seat in the peers' gallery immediately over the clock was reserved for the Prince of Wales on important occasions. In the new chamber the Princess will be able to enter her gallery by private elevator and by a special entrance. No ceremony will be attached to her visits.

The proposed new chamber was designed by Sir Giles Scott. It will occupy the site of the old one, will be the same size but will have an up-to-date system of lighting and ventilation and will provide more accommodation for the public and the press.

They Get Homesick

But Nurses Of R.C.A.M.C. Overseas Are Sticking To Job

The nursing sisters of R.C.A.M.C. are doing a "tremendous job" overseas and can't get up to the forward battle areas often enough to suit them, Lt.-Col. Agnes Neil, overseas matron-in-chief of the nursing service, said.

"I'm proud of every one of them," Col. Neil, who comes from Peterborough, Ont., said in an interview. "They're doing a tremendous job and they're always cheerful and bright about it, although I'm sure at times they're just as homesick as any other Canadian overseas."

Stuck To Their Job

Magnificent Work Of Wrens Of The Dover Command

Shell-fire and flying-bomb attacks on Dover turned what was previously a dangerous job for the Wrens of the Dover Command into one of the most hazardous tasks of the war.

I learned their story in a naval machine shop in the forefront of "Hell-fire Corner". The shop was crammed with racks of live torpedoes. On Dover turned what was previously a dangerous job for the Wrens of the Dover Command into one of the most hazardous tasks of the war.

A single shell-speller, I was told by an R.N. officer, would have been sufficient to have sent "the whole works sky-high". But the Wrens never faltered. "They were magnificent," said the officer. They refused to take cover, except on one occasion when they were ordered to do so, and then they returned to work within 10 minutes. —Leeds Yorkshire Post.

Please accept our sincere appreciation for your kindness in drawing this matter to our attention, as we consider it a pleasure to have the opportunity of correcting any complaints against any of our products because, as you know, we are very jealous of the reputation that our products enjoy.

"What interested me most," said "Marketing" informant, was the instantaneous reaction of both firms concerned that the fame won by the advertised brand name of their products be protected at all costs. First, they saw I was satisfied; second, they checked in every way to prove the quality was in the package. And, third, they were really grateful for the opportunity to remove any possible reflection on their lines. It struck me that you can't get this protection from maverick or unknown brands most of which are selling now only because of shortages in the nationally advertised products. My wife and I have proven once more that the firms who advertised are the firms who produce quality goods that are the most economical to advertise. You will be glad to know that the next cake was a wow!" —Reprinted from "Marketing" for November 11th, 1944.

CHRISTMAS SEALS
BUY $25,000.00
T.B. CLINIC

Heavy artillery in the war against tuberculosis was delivered today to the Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, Minister of Health, when the Alberta Tuberculosis Association turned over the second Mobile Chest X-ray Clinic, bought with Christmas Seal Funds.

Success of the first Mobile X-ray Unit was so remarkable in bringing to light early cases of tuberculosis that it was decided to enlarge and expand the Early Diagnosis Campaign by purchasing another Unit. The Alberta Department of Health, in one year's operation of the first Unit, has X-rayed nearly 60,000 Albertans, to discover about 180 cases of active tuberculosis, most of them in the early stages, when recovery is almost certain. The first Unit cost $15,000.00. The new Unit is valued at $25,000.00, and represents the very last word in mechanical and scientific achievement.

Unit No. 2 is contained in a bus body, built jointly by General Motors Ltd. and the Victor X-ray Corporation. It has a higher clearance than Unit No. 1, so that it can negotiate more difficult roads, and it hauls with it a trailer containing a complete generating plant, allowing it to operate anywhere in the province, providing its own power where necessary.

Dr. Cross said, "We are grateful to the Alberta Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated Christmas Seal Committees for their assistance. The solution to the problem of tuberculosis seems to lie in discovering tuberculosis in the earliest stages, and the only way to do this is to X-ray large groups of apparently healthy people."

Rotary Clubs and Kiwanis Clubs in Alberta have made Christmas Seals and anti-tuberculosis work their major community service. Committees are situated in Banff, Calgary, Cardston, Drumheller, Edmonton, High River, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Red Deer. Christmas Seals provide the only source of revenue for the local committees and also for the Alberta

Tuberculosis Association, which co-operates closely with the Department of Health and with the tuberculosis division, whose director is Dr. A. H. Baker, Superintendent of the Central Alberta Sanatorium at Calgary.

Dr. Baker said: "Our chief aim is to get control of all spreaders of tuberculosis. Approximately three out of every thousand apparently well persons have active T.B., and a large proportion of these people are infecting others without being aware of it. The more spreaders we find, the sooner we can bring under control this oldest scourge of mankind."

The Alberta Tuberculosis Association is affiliated with the Canadian Tuberculosis Association and the National Association of the U.S. Its activities embrace all forms of anti-tuberculosis work in Alberta. The X-ray survey work is known as Early Diagnosis, or early finding. It also sponsors and help pay for occupational therapy in tuberculosis hospitals in Calgary and Edmonton, whereby patients are taught to make useful and saleable articles.

Vocational training and rehabilitation of ex-patients are an important phase of the A.T.A.'s program. New and suitable skills are taught to patients so that they will not be handicapped when they have to return to life.

He Was No Yank

The British barmaid was a flirt, and when the corporal went out to buy a paper she pursed her lips invitingly and leaned over the bar towards the shy young private.

Putting her face against his, she whispered: "Now's your chance, darling."

The private looked around the empty room.

"So it is," he remarked; and promptly drank the corporal's beer. —Boston & Maine Magazine

Christmas Unemployment

The minister of labor has made the following order:

"Under and by virtue of the authority of Section 505 (G) of the National Selective Service civilian regulations, Order in Council P.C. 246, dated January 19, 1945, as amended, the minister of labor hereby makes the following order:

The provisions of Part 2 of the National Selective Service civilian regulations (Order in Council P.C. 246, dated January 19, 1943) as amended, shall apply to temporary seasonal employment in retail trade during the period from December 13, 1944, to January 5, 1945, both dates inclusive. The same regulation applies also to the post office department, but during the period from December 1, 1944, to January 10, 1945, both dates inclusive. The aforementioned regulation means that, during the aforementioned dates as they apply to the establishments aforementioned, may hire temporary seasonal labor without a permit or separation, the following:

1. Students and teachers in respect of employment during the Christmas vacation.
2. Female persons.
3. Male persons who have passed their 50th birthday.

No person employed pursuant to the provision of this order may continue in such employment after January 5, 1945, or January 10, 1945, as the case may be, without the permission of a Selective Service officer.

During the aforementioned periods as they apply, advertisements for help is also permitted without the necessity of approval of the local office or National Selective Service.

JACK THE RIPPER'S CRIMES,
MOST SHOCKING IN HISTORY, ON SCREEN

If the perfect crime is one in which the perpetrator escapes detection, then the arch-perfectionist of all time in the criminal world is Jack the Ripper.

For the Ripper, in a series of murders that had the whole world in terror, not only was never apprehended, but Scotland Yard, nemesis of criminals, never even came close to apprehending him.

Countless theories have been advanced to account for Jack the Ripper, but it remained for Mrs. Marie Belloc Lowndes to supply the most satisfactory study in her novel, "The Lodger," a tremendous best-seller since it was first published, and which has now been brought to the screen by 20th Century-Fox, starring Merle Oberon, George Sanders and Laird Cregar. The film opens Saturday at the Palace theatre.

The story is this master criminal has intrigued the imagination of the public and students of criminology since the first murder occurred in London in 1888.

In swift succession followed four other killings, which can be authoritatively credited to the Ripper, although public hysteria at the time ascribed scores of crimes to him.

About the only things safe to assume concerning the identity of the Ripper are: He played a lone hand; he was a medical student; He carried a black patent leather bag; he didn't like women.

Now, out of the terror-filled secrecy of half a century, the story has been brought to the screen in what preview critics have hailed as "the greatest of all shockers!"

Mrs. Lowndes' theory was that the Ripper hid his nocturnal activities by posing as a respectable boarder in a Whitechapel home—thus the title, "The Lodger."

In the film, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Sara Allgood play the middle-aged couple who unwittingly lease a room to "The Lodger." Merle Oberon is seen as the reigning musical favorite of London, niece of the couple, who falls into the Ripper's web when she goes there for a visit.

Who plays "The Lodger"? You will have to go see the film to find that out—and you'd better not go alone!

John Brahm directed the film and Robert Bassler was its producer.

These dimes work their heads off

No doubt you've seen dimes worn so thin that you can't see the heads on them.

That's what happens when money is really passed around.

That's what happens every year to at least two and a half billion dimes that are put into circulation through the life insurance companies. These dimes really go to work.

They come in the form of premium payments from four million policyholders and if you prefer figuring in folding money, they amount to 250 million dollars.

In peacetime these dimes are not idle. They are kept busy through investment in a great variety of local and national undertakings. For the past five years they have been busy in a strictly military sense—backing up our fighting men with more than a billion dollars' worth of Victory Bonds.

These busy dimes are helping to buy security for you and yours—both in the present and in the future—both at home and abroad.

BIGGEST-YET BRITISH ARMORED CAR—THE AEC ARMORED CAR MARK II.

Details of the AEC Armored Car Mark II, the biggest and most powerful British armored car that has yet seen service on any battlefield, were released in March, 1944. It carries the punch of a tank in the form of a new famous six-pounder anti-tank gun. In addition it mounts a 7.92 mm Besa machine gun mounted co-axially with the six-pounder, and a light AA machine gun on top of the turret. Powered with a Diesel oil engine of proved reliability in operation and developing 153 bhp at 2,000 revolutions a minute, the AEC has a maximum road speed of 42 miles per hour. Across country it can reach 18 miles per hour. The armor is an inch and a quarter thick on the front and one inch at the sides. The total loaded weight of the car is 12 tons, 12 cwt. A standard wireless set is carried. The tires are of very large section and have the new familiar "run flat" principle which enables the car to keep going even after a puncture or a burst. The crew consists of a commander, driver, gunlayer and loader, the latter acting as wireless operator as occasion demands.

Russian-Canadians In Congress

The second congress of the Federation of Russian Canadians, held at Toronto Nov. 8 to 12 and attended by 138 delegates representing 58 branches of the federation of Russian-Canadians and Russian church societies, speaks in the name of the majority of Canadians of Russian descent. This congress attracted the attention of all organized Russian-Canadians.

This congress, filled with deep Canadian patriotism, is proud of the role played by our country—Canada—in the present war. We take pride in the armed forces of Canada and of Canada's contribution in the field of production of war materials necessary for victory over our enemies.

We greet the Canadian people and the Canadian government for the generous aid given by Canada to the people of the USSR and for Canada's remarkable contribution to the general cause of the United Nations.

Russian Canadians are taking part in Canada's armed forces and in production, they are actively supporting all our war efforts and are marching in step with the rest of their fellow Canadians.

The Federation of Russian-Canadians shall contribute towards a correct understanding by the Canadian people of the past and present of Russia. We shall expose those forces who slander the Russian people and other people of the USSR, those who are trying to create friction and conflict between Canada and our neighbor, the USSR. The Federation of Russian-Canadians and the Russian churches in Canada will organize lectures in the English and Russian languages on Russian history, culture and science, on the past and the present of the Russian people. Russian-Canadian organizations will encourage the organization of study of the Russian language by French and English speaking Canadians. Russian-Canadian organizations will contribute toward closer cultural and trade relations between Canada and the USSR. —S. Rachuboff, presiding chairman.

Save The Children Fund

An urgent appeal to Canadian women for kits of clothing to help dress 45,000 European child refugees now being sheltered in Sweden and Cairo was recently issued by the Canadian committee of the Save the Children fund.

In addition to the number now being given shelter, thousands more stream into Cairo and Sweden every week, said Mr. Justice J. C. McRuer, committee chairman. "Babies and children are in rags. Some of them are not that fortunate.

"Any woman in Canada who helps a stricken European mother aids in building a bridge of friendship that will do much to unite the old and new worlds in a tie of co-operation for world peace."

Four Canadian women's organizations who have already adopted the project are the League of Nations Society in Canada; Ontario Federation of Home and School associations; Provincial Council of Women for Ontario, and the National Council of Jewish Women.

Kits are required for newly-born infants; babies from six to 18 months, and boys and girls from two to three and from four to five. Knitting wool and knitting needles as well as any scraps of left-over material will also be greatly appreciated.

Each kit is to carry the age and sex of the child for whom it has been prepared as well as the name and address of the donor, so that the mother receiving it will be able to express her appreciation.

Right behind the fund's Canadian committee are the Benevolent Order of Elks of Canada and Newfoundland, who have contributed more than $20,000 especially earmarked for British children who have suffered because of the war. The Elks plan to continue the support of these children for an indefinite period.

Instructions on making the much-needed kits for young European refugees will be gladly supplied upon request. Donations to further the work are appreciated. Address your inquiry or donation to Scott Montgomery, secretary, Save the Children Fund, Canadian Committee, 18 Toronto Street, Toronto.

WEDDINGS

FRANZ—HAMMER

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the United church manse on Saturday, Nov. 25, when Marie Matilda, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hammer, was united in marriage to Robert, second son of Mrs. E. Franz.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a two-piece dress of Chinese blue with navy accessories. She carried a bouquet of carnations and chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaid, Miss Tillie Franz, sister of the groom, chose a dress of rose-red and carried a bouquet of tiny pink and white asters.

The groom was attended by William Hammer.

Following the ceremony the party gathered at the bride's home, where the wedding breakfast was served followed by a reception where immediate relatives and friends were present.

The happy young couple will reside in Coleman where the groom is employed.

ATKINSON—HALLIDAY

The marriage took place at Vancouver on Wednesday, Nov. 8, of Miss Mamie Halliday, of Vancouver and formerly of Banff, to Jonty Atkinson second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Atkinson, sr., of Coleman.

Mr. Reg. Wolf, of Vancouver, attended the groom. A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of Mr. Wolf.

Among those attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Atkinson and family and Stanley Atkinson, of Vancouver, and Miss Mary Atkinson of Victoria.

The young couple will make their home at Vancouver, where the groom is an employee of the St. Regis hotel.

Cigarette Fund Notes

Dear Friends: Many thanks for your welcome cigarettes, which are arriving regularly and are greatly appreciated. Best of luck and a Merry Xmas and Prosperous New Year to you all.—L. Morgan.

Dear Sirs: Received your welcome parcel of 300 Sweet Caps a couple of nights ago. I do suppose Old Man Winter is just around the corner and no doubt the good curlers in town are having their stances sharpened for the coming season. It certainly would be grand to be at the opening of the new curling rink. I sincerely trust that they will enjoy a successful season. Noticed in The Journal that Coleman has been selected this year for the annual bouspiel. With the new curling rink being in the new location instead of the old one I am quite sure the visiting curlers will find a vast improvement in regards to ice conditions and I sincerely hope they enjoy themselves to the full. Will close with thanks for making these welcome cigarette gifts possible.—J. A. Howarth.

Dear Sirs: Just a line to thank you for my Sept. issue of cigs, which I received a week ago. I am fine and still here in Italy. Please thank all those who make these gifts possible, and they are appreciated more than I can say.—Archie Wragg.

Dear Sirs: Just a line to let you know that I received your parcel of cigarettes, for which I thank you very much.—Joe Koutsky.

Dear Members: Received your ever welcome parcel of cigs and once again I wish to thank the Legion and all those who make these gifts possible.—O. Hirsch.

Dear Sirs: Received another carton of smokes the other day. Thanks a million. I ran into Jasper Jones and Leonard Hoyle while I was in hospital. They both seem to be in the best of health.—Roy Garrett.

A Christmas card has been received from O. H. Hirsch and contains the following message: "Members of the Canadian Legion and Ladies Auxiliary. Many thanks for cigs we have received during the past year and hope that the coming year will see an end to this war. Best luck to all."

Sirs: Received cigs o.k. so thanks again. Things are alright with me and I'm in the very best of health and spirits seeing that this day is nearing an end. Hope to see you all soon. Best regards and wishes.—Geo. Burtink.

MEN WHO THINK OF TOMORROW

plan handi-talkies for your use!

TOMORROW'S PRIVATE HANDI-TALKIE... Knee-deep in your favorite fishing waters, you can call the camp on your private radio-telephone to let the boys know what the trout are taking. From your car, you can call home to say you're on the way. The handi-talkie will be a marvel of everyday life not only in sports but in every type of business and industry—planned for you by men who think of tomorrow.

WHO, indeed, doesn't look forward to the good things of tomorrow—when peace comes again? Yet we cannot for an instant relax our vigilance—not so long as there is a single armed enemy soldier at large—Nazi or Jap!

• We must fight to the end the battle against waste; we must keep production at its highest pitch; we must salvage fats and waste paper and metals; we must conserve gasoline and rubber; and, above all, we must continue buying and keeping Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates.

• Does a soldier lay his rifle down when enemy resistance slackens for a moment? No! And no more may we at home withdraw our help by cashing in our Victory Bonds. They represent a pledge to our government and our fighting forces that we will back them to the last. This we must do.

• Let us all be men who think of tomorrow... by holding our home front battle lines today!

I Am Your Newspaper

THERE APPEARED in the Publishers' Auxiliary of November 4th last, an editorial written by Carl R. Miller for his own paper, the Willacy County Chronicle. The issue for which this editorial was written was calling attention to the Annual Observance of Newspaper Week and contains so much of interest to our own Canadian Weekly Newspaper Publishers that we are taking the liberty of placing it on record for the benefit of both publishers and readers. The editorial follows:

This week throughout the nation I am one among a group of some 9,000 country newspapers calling your attention to the annual observance of Newspaper Week.

As to being a big newspaper, boasting of big name columnists or big-town syndicated features, I lay no claim. A small county in the Rio Grande valley, Willacy county with its 14,000 people, lays no claim to be a big county.

But for 52 weeks ending October 1 this year I have brought you a total of 61,000 column inches of news about you, your family and your friends in and around Willacy county. This represents approximately the equivalent of six big Sunday issues of the Dallas Morning News, or 434 pages. Each week for the past year I have carried the names of over a thousand people you know, many of whom are your neighbors.

I have printed more than 200 pictures of Willacy county men and women serving in the army, navy and marines on the battlefronts of the world. I have brought you news and reprinted letters of your boys and girls in the army camps and naval bases, on the invasion fronts in Europe and the Pacific.

When the shocking news came from the War Department that Cpl. Oran Taylor was killed in action over the English channel, when Pfc. Joe Charles Knowles lost his life during a raid over Berlin, when Pfc. Joe Resales died from wounds received on the Italian front, you read about it in my columns. You read about the awards of the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Purple Heart and other official recognitions for Willacy county boys. You read about the proud day they received their symbolic wings; the day they were promoted to private first class; the day they became colonels and majors.

Here on the home front in my columns you read about what the folks in Lyford, Sebastian, San Perita and Lasara were doing each week. You learned who attended the pink and blue showers, what was served at the meetings of the Stillman Tract Home Demonstration club, who had charge of the program of the Study club, how many new Texans came into the world during the week, who preached at the Baptist church last Sunday. Each week on my editorial page you learned what the editor thought about things that concern Willacy county folks. You also read what other valley editors were writing.

By reading the advertisements in my columns you learned what local merchants had merchandise on other shelves to offer themselves to you. Each week I am your historian, reflecting for posterity the simple things you do, the noble things you perform, the homes you are building, the sons and daughters you are raising—the America that you are.

As long as there is a United States as we now know it, as long as we continue to raise valiant, unselfish, unafraid men as we are doing today, as long as more than 55 per cent. of the population of these United States are country people, like the people I now serve, we the 9,000 country papers throughout the length and breadth of the land, will continue to serve you.

Proudly I say, "I am your newspaper!"—Carl R. Miller in the Willacy County Chronicle, Raymondville, Texas.

We think the time has come for all our editors to stress the value of their own weekly newspaper, setting forth what it means to their community. It has been the experience of many publishers that the war has made the people acutely conscious of the value and importance of their weekly newspaper and this is evidenced by the greatly increased circulation and by the comments and attitude of the public in general. Weekly newspaper readers have awakened to the fact that nowhere else than in their weekly paper can they read news concerning themselves and their fellow townfolk. This is important to them because nearly every family has some story with a war angle. We must not forget too, those who have gone out to larger centres in these war days, but who never forget their home ties and look forward eagerly to the next issue of the home paper. This evidence of confidence and appreciation brings its own responsibilities, which is that the weekly paper must be kept on a high level of attractiveness. The editor intends doing his part and if readers rally to his support there is bound to emerge from this co-operation a better weekly newspaper and a more enlightened community.

Price Control
And Rationing
Information

Q. My son is now in the Armed Forces. Must I send him his No. 4 ration book as well as his No. 2 book or may I keep a few coupons for when he comes home on week ends?

A. All ration books in the name of a member of the Armed Forces must be surrendered to his unit when he reports for duty. Your son will be provided by his unit with an Application for Ration Coupons for members of the Armed Forces or a Ration Card when coming home for 48 hours or longer.

Q. I read the other day that grocers could deliver orders under one dollar. Yet, when I ordered 25c worth of sugar my grocer said he couldn't deliver it. Can he refuse to make such a delivery?

A. Yes, while the regulations limiting deliveries to one dollar or over has been removed, each retailer can decide his own delivery policy, and, of course, deliveries are still restricted to one per day on any route.

Q. I find that I will not be using my remaining canning sugar coupons as the fruit season is about over. Are they of any value or should I destroy them?

A. Canning sugar coupons which are not required should be destroyed. However, they may be used to purchase sugar for canning or be exchanged for preserves coupons at your Local Ration Board until December 31.

Q. I am thinking of selling my tractor now and buying a new one in the spring. Must I obtain a permit to do so?

A. Yes, you must obtain a permit to sell your tractor or you will not be entitled to make application to buy a new one.

Q. When buying clothes should I keep the new Wartime Prices and Trade Board label that I see on so many garments that I purchase these days.

A. By all means. If you have to make a complaint as to size, price or quality of the garment you will need the label in order to trace the article and to check as to your complaint.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your clothing prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Churchill Slept In Bed Goering Always Used In Paris

Prime Minister Churchill's recent visit to Paris must have brought him a bit of personal satisfaction over the liberation of France. While there, Mr. Churchill slept in the same bed in the royal suite at Qu d'Orsay which Marshal Goering used to use during his visits to Paris during the German occupation.

The fat marshal also occasionally used a bed in an adjoining room which was occupied by Foreign Secretary Eden, who accompanied Mr. Churchill.

Gratuity Legislation

Applications Should Be Sent In By Men Discharged From The Services

Fewer than 41,000 applications for war service gratuities have been received by the navy, army and air force at Ottawa since it was announced some time ago that application forms were available, a survey by The Canadian Press showed.

Approximately 185,000 of the dependents of men killed or became casualties prior to Oct. 1, and of the number only 40,700 have applied for the gratuities, provided under legislation passed at the last session of parliament.

Spokesmen for the services said it was the backlog of 155,000 who have not yet applied that was causing worry and it was hoped they or their dependents would file applications promptly. Personnel discharged after that date automatically filled out their gratuity application forms before leaving the service.

Application forms are available at all naval, military and air force establishments in Canada and at all district and sub-district offices of the pensioners department, now the department of veterans affairs.

Dependents of men killed on active service need not fill out forms, but need only make application in a letter giving the man's name, rank and regimental number, and the extent to which they were dependent upon him.

Under the gratuity legislation active service personnel will receive $7.50 for every 30 days service in the western hemisphere, which includes Canada, the West Indies, Newfoundland and South America; $15 for every 30 days service overseas, including the Aleutians, Iceland and Greenland; seven days' pay and allowances for each six months' service overseas, and a re-establishment credit.

Members of the home defence army who served in Kiuka are entitled to gratuities covering the period of their service there. Other home defence troops, however, receive no benefits under the legislation.

Nationals of other countries who served in Canadian forces are entitled to the gratuities. Canadians who have been discharged from other Empire forces during the present war may apply, if they now are domiciled and resident in Canada, and were domiciled in Canada at the outbreak of hostilities. Those discharged from the other Empire forces need apply by letter only, giving full particulars of service.

Payment of gratuities is expected to begin early in the new year. For that reason it was advisable for those eligible to file their applications immediately.

"Those eligible should realize that if they file their applications in the middle of December only they cannot expect to receive their cheque the first week in January," a spokesman said. "There is too much administrative work to be done to allow such speedy handling of applications."

Dependents were eligible for gratuities only if they were eligible for dependents' allowances at the date of the member's death or, if not eligible for dependents' allowances, providing they were dependent upon the member at the time and in receipt of assigned pay from him.

The discharged personnel themselves, however, must fill in all the details required in the application forms.

Military Record

Indian Family That Has Contributed Much To The War effort

Chief Joe Dreaver of the Mistawasis Indian reserve in Saskatchewan, is one person who knows the meaning of war.

The day war was declared Chief Dreaver arrived in Saskatoon with all the boys of military age in the reserve. There were 14 of them, among them his three sons. All enlisted in the Canadian Army.

The years that followed saw the little group scattered but on Oct. 6 it suffered its first death. Sgt. Harvey Dreaver was killed in Italy. The reserve was also notified that Pte. Sam Dreaver of Leask, Sask., an uncle of Harvey's had been wounded.

Chief Dreaver has an outstanding military record himself. A veteran of the First Great War, he is now a member of the Veterans Guard of Canada guarding Nazi prisoners of war at Medicine Hat, Alta.

Recently he visited Saskatoon to meet his son George, discharged after service overseas. Henry, acting chief, and his daughters, Myrtle of the C.W.A.C. and Gladys, a member of the R.C.A.F. (W.D.). After the reunion he returned to the reservation for a memorial service in honor of his son.

Took No Chances

Goering Removed All Of His Possessions From East Prussia

While assuring the people that East Prussia was invulnerable, Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering nevertheless sent fifteen trucks to his hunting lodge three weeks before the Russians launched their current offensive into East Prussia. The trucks were loaded until they bulged with Goering's possessions, including valuable paintings cut from their frames; then they moved off toward Berkn.

The lodge, which is in Rominten Forest, used to belong to the Hohenzollern family. It is no hut. It has two massive wings, connected by a glass-domed gallery, and is ornamented with carved animal heads and Gothic stained-glass windows. The forest is well stocked with deer and wild boar, which Kaiser Wilhelm used to shoot, and after him Goering. Now the game no doubt is helping to feed the Red Army, for Goering's private hunt was right: the Russians did take the hunting preserve and its lodge.—New York Herald Tribune.

SMILE AWHILE

A soldier was on the carpet for striking a sergeant.

"Now," barked the colonel, "I want no perversion. Did you, or did you not, strike Sgt. Prinsloo?"

The prisoner thought for a minute. Then, "The answer is in the infirmary," he replied.

Father—There's plenty of time for our daughter to think of getting married. Let her wait until the right man comes along.

Mother—Why should she? I didn't.

They were having their first quarrel.

"I'm disappointed," said the husband. "When we were first married I thought you were an angel."

"Yes," retorted his wife. "I suppose that's why you never bought me any clothes."

Jones—Wasn't you in the hospital last week?

Smith—Yes. I had a terrible high fever.

Jones—What did they give you to cure it?

Smith—A homely nurse!

Whatta matter with you, are you blind?" said the pedestrian.

"Blind?" snapped the driver. "I hit you, didn't I?"

Old Gentleman—You're an honest lad; but it was a $10 bill, not 10 ones.

Small Boy—I know, mister. It was a $10 bill I picked up. But the last time I found one the man who owned it didn't have any change.

"By jove, old man, your walls are thin! You can hear the next door wireless just as though it were in this room."

"I'll say the walls are thin! Why, when I get a headache the fellow next door takes two aspirins!"

Smithkins—That confounded rat of yours kept me awake all night.

Fudham—Well, what do you expect me to do about it—have it destroyed?

Smithkins—No, but I was thinking you might have it tamed.

Junior. I won't get married until I find a girl like Grandpa married.

Friend. Huh! They don't have women like that today.

Junior—That's funny! Grandpa only married her yesterday.

"Now that I've told you about my past, do you want to marry me?"

"Sure."

"I suppose you'll expect me to live it down?"

"No! I'll expect you to live up to it."

Life Insurance Agent—My dear sir, have you made any provision for those who come after you?

Hardupp—Yes, I put the dog at the door, and told the servant to say that I'm out of town.

MAJOR DAVID CURRIE BECOMES THE SEVENTH CANADIAN TO WIN VICTORIA CROSS IN THIS WAR

OTTAWA. Major David Vivian Currie, 32, of Moose Jaw, Sask., and Owen Sound, Ont., an officer of the South Alberta Reconnaissance regiment, became the seventh Canadian to win the Victoria Cross of this war for blocking and holding one of the main German escape routes out of the Falaise pocket, defence headquarters announced.

A peace-time automobile mechanic and welder, Maj. Currie displayed the heroism that won him the empire's highest award for valor in an action which started in the village of St. Lambert sur Divès Aug. 20 and continued for three days and three nights.

The citation said that all the officers under his command were either killed or wounded and "his force was finally relieved and he was satisfied that the turnover was complete, he fell asleep on his feet and collapsed."

Maj. Currie first attacked and seized the village which was a key point of the Chambois-Trun escape route for the remnants of two German armies cut off in the Falaise pocket. He held it through three days and nights of continuous fighting, hurling back repeated enemy attempts to force a breakthrough. His strategy was successful in blocking the German escape route.

Other Canadian V.C.'s of this war: Lt.-Col. C. Cecil I. Morritt, Vancouver, now a prisoner of war in Germany for heroism on the beach of Dieppe, Aug. 19, 1942.

Capt. F. T. Peters of Prince Edward Island and Nelson, B.C., recognized when his royal navy ship forced the boom of Oran during North African landings Nov. 8, 1942. He died later.

Maj. Paul Triquet, Cabano, Que., recognized for bravery with the Royal 22nd Regiment at Cassa Bernarda, Italy, Dec. 14, 1943.

Maj. John Keefer Mahony, 33, New Westminster, B.C. for continuing successful direction of the holding of an Italian bridgehead, May 24, 1944, after being wounded three times.

Fil Lt. David E. (Bud) Horrell, 34, Mimico, Ont., for pressing home a successful attack on a U-boat in June, 1944, which cost his life.

Maj. Charles Ferguson Hoy, Duncan, B.C., recognized posthumously for service with the British army in the Indian Burma campaign in February, 1944.

The story of the valorous act told how Maj. Currie, took his tiny force of tanks, anti-tank guns and infantry and thrust them in the path of vastly superior forces and firepower.

Ordered to cut off a main escape route, Maj. Currie met with strong enemy resistance at St. Lambert sur Divès. When two of his tanks were knocked out he went on foot through enemy outposts to successfully extricate the crews of his disabled tanks.

Enemy Trying To Increase His Sub Activities

LONDON. A Wellington bomber of the famed Canadian Demon Squadron destroyed a German submarine attempting to reach the North Atlantic shipping lanes while an R.A.F. Liberator heavily damaged a U-boat 436 miles north of the Arctic circle, it was disclosed here.

Announcement of these separate attacks followed one describing two others in which one U-boat was destroyed and another possibly destroyed by coastal command Liberators. These announcements reflected recent attempts by the Germans to increase submarine activities after a period of comparative inaction.

The Demon crew, captained by P.O. Lorne Bateman, D.F.C., of Winnipeg, sighted the U-boat by means of the bomber's searchlight shortly after the submarine left port at night. A few hours after the attack, when a reconnaissance was made, survivors were seen clinging to rafts.

In the other attack, an R.A.F. dawn patrol squadron Liberator piloted by P.O. D. A. Willows of Regina, flew through intense flak to blow the U-boat out of the water with depth charges. The submarine disappeared from sight a few seconds later and the bodies of 10 gunners, who were killed at their posts, were swept into the icy sea. The bomber escaped undamaged.

GIVING UP ARMS

Chiefs of Resistance Organizations in Belgium Come To Decision BRUSSELS. — The chiefs of Belgium's various resistance organizations agreed to deliver all the arms of the resistance forces to the Allied armies and concurred in the procedure by which the weapons will be surrendered.

Meeting with Maj.-Gen. George Erskine and other officials of the supreme Allied headquarters mission to Belgium, the resistance leaders agreed their organizations would deliver the arms at a designated depot.

Surrender of the arms by members of the resistance forces is in response to an order by the Belgian government which has led to organized protests throughout the country.

VISIT TO MOSCOW

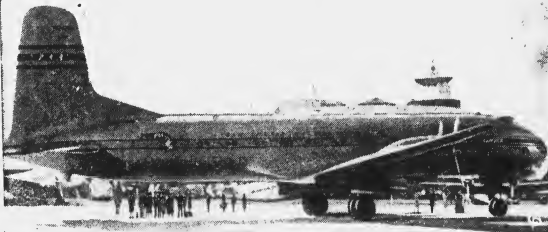

Says Journey Is Essential To The Future Of France

PARIS. Foreign Minister Georges Bidault told the consultative assembly that the forthcoming Moscow visit by Gen. De Gaulle with him "is a journey which must be considered as essential to the future of France and the peace of the world." He said it "concerns the peace of Europe."

Asserting there could be no Europe without the collaboration of the Soviet people, he added "a western bloc which rejects those who are not protected by the ocean must not be created."

The foreign minister said President Roosevelt was expected to visit Paris soon.

Here Is The Trans-Atlantic Ship Of The Future

Here is an exact scale-model of the DC-7 which is to be used by Pan-American World Airways as its post-war trans-Atlantic ship of the air. The new ship dwarfs present-day passenger planes. It has a wing spread greater than the height of a 16-story building; has 81-ton gross weight and is double the size of the present Boeing clipper now operated by Pan-Am. The huge clipper will carry 108 passengers at speeds better than 300 miles per hour.

STATUS OF INDIA

Earl Listowel Says Indians Have A Right To Choose Their Own Government

LONDON.—Earl Listowel, recently appointed undersecretary for India, said at a conference of London representatives of Indian newspapers that he had an intense belief in the right of Indians to choose their own form of government and to "decide for themselves whether they will eventually stay inside or go right out of the British commonwealth."

"I fervently hope," Lord Listowel added, "the exercise of this right will not be so long delayed as to endanger a close and friendly partnership between Britain and India as members of a world family of free nations."

"Moreover the good name of this country everywhere will depend on whether we give an impression of real sincerity about constitutional progress in India."

ALLIED TROOPS HAVE BEEN FORGING STEADILY AHEAD IN DRIVE OVER GERMAN BORDER

LONDON.—There is every reason for satisfaction over the successes of six of Eisenhower's armies in the past week on the western front, just as there should be special appreciation in Canada of the manner in which our First Canadian army paved the way for this offensive.

The ground gain is rather substantial in total, but should not in itself give rise to any exceptional optimism that an early end is in sight. These gains should be interpreted as having more of a psychological than a strategic importance, except insofar as our Allied troops have actually penetrated the Siegfried defences.

It is true that every mile of ground gained on German soil is likely to inject more fear into the stomachs of any wavering Germans, just as it may well put more determination into the sinews of the more fanatical Nazis, but in the main the psychological balance favors the Allies.

There is generally reported to be about half a million defence troops available for the Siegfried line from the lower Rhine around Nijmegen to the Swiss border, a much inferior force to that mustered by Eisenhower, and for that reason it may well be that in many instances the Germans will retire to the most favorable ground, which in the first instance is the prepared positions of the Siegfried line and then if necessary, to the Rhine itself.

There has been no evidence of a general withdrawal, though in some cases the enemy has given up ground at a minimum of expense in manpower.

While some thousands of prisoners have been taken in these operations, the numbers have not been much greater than might be expected where rearguard action is attempted and the quality of these enemy troops is not high, and includes a pretty mixed lot of troops from occupied countries and over-age conscripts with little training. There is a slightly familiar smell in this, mindful of the days in Normandy when S.S. and panzer outfits were used in the rear, to bolster poorer troops in the front line.

It would seem that the Germans are holding their crack troops mostly for the Siegfried defences. We will not beat Germany until we liquidate half a million troops now manning the Siegfried defences, and we may not be able to do that until our soldiers at least have made effective crossings of the Rhine.

What happens now is that the Allies take over more and more Rurh soil, slowly forging a terrific ring of diminishing perimeter, threatening Germany more directly from the Low Countries as well as on the eastern front around Budapest, and perhaps to a lesser extent with our successes at Belfort.

The drive over the border into Germany naturally adds to the spirit of our fighting men, much as they realize the tough obstacles that lie ahead, and none are more interested in a speedy end than the man up front.

Perhaps the most significant development in recent days has been some temporary improvement in the weather. There is not one chance in a hundred of two weeks of conditions suitable for an all-out effort by the tactical air force, but there have been several good days, while the bombers have continued their air onslaught. You might still say that the end of the war will be determined more by the weather than any other unpredictable factor.
